CIRCUS WATCH WA

NO SAD ELEPHANTS, MONKEYS AND LIONS HERE

The internationally renowned Moscow Circus has come to town with daring, exciting and funny antics that have excited, delighted and thrilled audiences all over the world and there isn't a sad lion, monkey or elephant in sight.

Moscow Circus has a policy not to use exotic animals and it showcases brilliant talent and entertainment in its highly successful tours.

The Moscow Circus, along with other progressive live acts such as Circus Oz and Cirque du Soleil, prove without doubt that it is not necessary to exploit exotic animals in pursuit of entertainment.

“The Council of the City of Perth initiated the policy to refuse any circus that used exotic animals because it recognizes the harm to the animals with the unnatural and restrictive conditions in both training and transport.” said Dawn Lowe, the president and spokesperson for Circus Watch WA

“I think that is what Deputy-Mayor Bert Tudori and Councillor Janet Davidson had in mind when they championed the policy. I am sure that they and their colleagues would congratulate the Moscow Circus for their stance,”

“Mums and dads want their children to enjoy quality and inspiring entertainment and the City of Perth is certainly the best place for the circus to set up,” said Ms Lowe.
